Church Below Sea-Level

By Pastor Chris

For our anniversary Sherry and I are visiting Venice Italy ~ a city that is slowly sinking into the sea. As part of the visit we will tour several beautiful ancient churches. Some continue as worship sites; others are just museums. Tourists outnumber members in both. So as a coffee-sipping tourist I wonder: what caused the decline in these places of worship? Has the church failed to keep up with rising waters of life or have members been washed away by the waves of worldly whims? Has the church left the people or have the people left the church?

Perhaps the real question is: "What is the church?"

If the church is a building then decay is inevitable. If the church is a club of dues-paying members then it is subject to the ebb and flow of competing passions.

But if the church is a group of disciples — people who share the calling to follow Jesus in proclaiming and living the good news of the Kingdom of God, then it will abide as a relationship. And in so doing it will survive both above and below water no matter how high the tide rises.

Dallas Willard, who ended his earthly journey May 8, spent a lifetime calling people to discipleship instead of church. The church is necessary and good, says Willard, but "if we shrink discipleship down to church work we'll never see its power to transform ourselves and to transform the world that is around us." Instead, discipleship is the invitation to enter the kingdom of heaven as more than a tourist. Without that kind of transformation and discipleship, all churches die and, rightly, are buried by the tides of time.

Dresses, Gloves and Hats (OH MY!)

By Kim Ferrari

The Ladies' Afternoon Tea on Sunday, May 5, was a relaxing afternoon of delicious food, pleasant fellowship, and terrific entertainment that was enjoyed by ladies of all ages. The event started off with a reading on a special friendship that was sustained with the purchase of two teacups. Immediately following the blessing, our handsome and attentive waiters began serving tea and a scrumptious lunch of cold strawberry soup, tea sandwiches, scones, and desserts. In addition to sipping tea and savoring every bite of our food, conversation and laughter were also on the menu as we enjoyed this special time of fellowship. Ella and Pam Schultz started off the entertainment by sharing their acting talents in a clever skit called Real Estate. Pam played an elderly woman who puts a Bible in the hands of her real estate agent, performed by Ella, proving there is more than one way to get God's Word out to people. Great job Ella and Pam! Afterwards, we tested our knowledge on tea and etiquette while the younger ladies correctly identified teapots from around the world. Congratulations to Jane Meadows and Mary Ellen Judd who are the most knowledgeable on proper manners when having tea with the Queen! Sherry Bowman closed the afternoon with "Tea for Two", inviting God to join us in life's journey. This event would not be successful without the wonderful men who treated us royally and received a standing ovation for their efforts. Our sincere appreciation to head waiter Kenny Judd and waiters Chris Bowman, Joel Comer, Eric Finet, Luke Finet, Michael Judd, Landon and Miller Kines, Orville Knicely, Lou Levesque, Kenny Lowe, Greg Kozak, Bobby and Steve Schultz, and Bob, Drew, and Scott Seidel for keeping our teacups filled, serving lunch, and leaving the kitchen spotless. You took excellent care of us and your hard work was much appreciated. It was a nice day for all and we appreciate all of the behind-the-scenes work that goes into an event like this. A huge thanks to Jackie Snow for designing and printing the lovely program and to Sherry Bowman, Kim Ferrari, Debbie Herring, Mary Ellen Judd, Bev and Lou Levesque, Pat Reed, and Evelyn Suppinger for preparing food, setting up tables, and decorating the room.

Oakton Concert Series

Dr. Rami Kanaan and Bettye Cooley will host a Violin Lecture- Recital on Saturday, July 13th at 7:00 pm. They will play three sonatas for violin and piano by W. A. Mozart and the audience will learn about Mozart's life and characteristics of the Classical musical style, with small excerpts of the music to demonstrate different points. Rami says, "I think the audience will enjoy this music. Each sonata is very beautiful and really short (about 8-10 minutes). I think that the audience will leave the recital wanting to hear more music." This free concert is part of the Oakton Church of the Brethren Concert series. A free-will offering will be collected. Rami and Bettye have performed similar recitals in the past to rave reviews. We hope to see you there!

Listening: The Art of Caring

By Shirley Roth

"June is Art of Caring Month" proclaimed a recent headline in my inbox. What exactly does that mean, I wondered? Why June? To be honest, I need to be cared for 12 months of the year.

A big part of what makes our church here at Oakton a living, thriving community of faith is the way we reach out and connect with each other—sharing our 'joys and concerns' as part of and beyond our Sunday morning worship experience. Caregiving is not a job. It is an adventure of sharing in the journey of life with another person. It is listening, saying a thoughtful word, sending a card or email, and remembering to pray specifically for and with a person.

At times, giving and receiving care become convoluted. All of us have experienced the overbearing person whose words of comfort don't feel like caring. Or, the crushing weight of some well-intentioned comment that hurts rather than heals.

Often it is our presence more than our words that are needed. Listening and being present in the moment is what is most remembered by a person in need of caring. Following the death of his grandmother, a 4 year old grandson climbed onto his grandfather's lap and quietly sat there for an extended period of time. Later the boy's mother asked him what he and his grandfather had talked about. The boy answered, "Nothing. We were busy listening to God telling us about how Grandma is an angel in heaven-baking chocolate cake for everyone."

7/28: "You will be enriched in every way for your great generosity, which will produce thanksgiving to God through us; for the rendering of this ministry not only supplies the needs of the saints but also overflows with many thanksgivings to God." 2 Cor. 9:11-12
